PREFACE

THESE "Notes," which are now appearing in the 'Students' Journal,' under the title of "Aids to Diseases of Women," are chiefly compiled from the works of Drs Barnes, Galabin, and Atthill.

They contain all the important and common diseases "peculiar to women" which are not to be found in other works.

Cystomata, or cystic tumours of the ovary, extra-uterine foetation, &c., which are fully described in text-books of surgery and midwifery, I have omitted.

July, 1880.
