INTRODUCTION.

There may be said, with some degree of truth, that there are more books published than are read, and yet, doubtless, such will always be the case, while the world still hungers for books. There are many books, but there is need of many more, and that of such a kind as the author of "My Life, Travels and Sermons" has produced. We want living books, such as express the heart experience of men—books that help to lead men away from the bondage of sin and the flesh, out into the free life that belongs to the true children of God. We need books such as can demonstrate the possibility of life in Christ and Christ in the life, for every man who will accept the guidance of God as revealed in the Word of God. We believe it is the mission of this little book to lead men out into the fulness of a sanctified life, and as such we wish it God-speed in its great work for the Master.
