

THE YOUNG MAN'S COUNSELOR; OR,
THE DUTIES AND DANGERS
OF YOUNG MEN

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649738175

The Young Man's Counselor; Or, The Duties and Dangers of Young Men by Daniel Wise

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

DANIEL WISE

THE YOUNG MAN'S COUNSELOR; OR,
THE DUTIES AND DANGERS OF YOUNG MEN

THE
YOUNG MAN'S COUNSELOR; OR, THE
DUTIES AND DANGERS OF YOUNG MEN.

BY

REV. DANIEL WISE, D. D.

STANFORD LIBRARY

---

CINCINNATI:
WALDEN AND STOWE.
NEW YORK:
PHILLIPS AND HUNT.

521023

Entered, according to the Act of Congress, in the year 1890,

BY DANIEL WISE,

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts.

DANIEL WISE

TO
THE YOUNG MEN OF AMERICA
THIS BOOK
IS AFFECTIONATELY INSCRIBED, BY
THEIR SINCERE FRIEND AND WELL-WISHER
DANIEL WISE.

like Summerfield, in favor of religion, or, like Patrick Henry and Adams, in battling for human rights; or will he, for mammon's sake, prostitute that gift to the uses of tyranny and infidelity? Will that immortal soul, which beams with intelligence and power in his countenance, ally itself with its Creator, and thus rise to the sublime height of its destiny; or will it wage war with truth and duty, and thus sink to degradation and to death? As I raise these great queries I at once do reverence to the high potentiality of his nature, and tremble for his fate. I feel a desire arising within me to bear a part in guiding him into the way of right, duty, and happiness. As a fruit of that often-felt desire, I have written this book. May its success equal the ardor and sincerity of my wishes for the best good of young men!

DANIEL WISE.

Fall River, November, 1850.

Contents.

CHAPTER I.

YOUTHFUL DAY-DREAMS DISSOLVED.

The young man invited to view the future—A joyous thought—A young man's dream of life—Disenchantment—The sower and the harvest—The young man a sower in the field of life—The two harvests—To be a young man a very serious fact—Sailing on a quiet river and steering through dangerous straits—The enchanted hill—Life an enchanted hill, with many victims—Every young man who falls is his own destroyer—The Alpine muleteer and the meditative man—An enemy at home—The asp—The young man's complaint anticipated—Caution the parent of success—Napoleon's forecast—Dupont's incaution—The defeat at Baylen—Every young man may conquer the obstacles of life—The young man should cheerfully contend for success—Alcinou's Garden. . . . . Page 13

CHAPTER II.

THE CORNER-STONE OF A SUCCESSFUL LIFE.

The stately mansion—Its ruin—The owner's folly—Every young man is constructing a character—Its materials—Importance of a right foundation—Building on the sand—Stain—The true foundation of right character—The temporal advantages of a religious life—Prosperity not the exclusive heritage of worldlings—Benefits of religion—The lovely charmer and her promises—Religion not the only path to temporal goals—Worldlings prosper without it—No tranquillity to mere worldlings—Confessions of Voltaire—Chesterfield—Lord Byron—Nelson—Talleyrand—Randolph—An affecting contrast—Religious life preferable to one of profitable sin—Extract—An illustration—The poisoned water—Specifics—The poisoned heart—The genius of the world and religion—The choice of wisdom—An appeal—Caution—Elements of success in life—Religion creates them all—Every young man may reach success through religion . . . . . Page 26

CHAPTER III.

INTEGRITY NECESSARY TO SUCCESS IN LIFE.

Integrity—Its nature and operations—Kossuth's noble reply—Zwingle and his Papal pension—The Scotch divines and their opposition to state control—A sublime scene—The protest—The secession—Excitement—Joy of the people—Tanfield Hall—Song of joy—Moral beauty of integrity—Integrity inspires confidence—It gives influence—The rivalry of Robespierre and Mirabeau an illustration—Exciting scene in a Jacobin club—Robespierre's victory—The secret of his success—Integrity necessary in small matters—The clerk, the mechanic, the farmer, the artist, exhorted to this—Small tests not to be despised—Their effect on the formation of right habits—Luther—Zwingle—Kossuth—A counting-room scene—The reward of integrity—Lightning-conductors an illustration—Gideon Lee and the goat skins—The young man's resolve—A serious question—Counting the cost—Religion creates integrity of the highest order—Should be sought . . . . . 43

CHAPTER IV.

INTELLIGENCE AN ELEMENT OF A SUCCESSFUL LIFE.

A German legend—Knowledge a talisman—How some young men treat knowledge—The influence of intellect on the countenance—Influence a result of intellectual culture—Examples in the lives of Franklin, Cromwell, Eldon, Burke, Canning, Brougham—The sailor-boy's reverie at sea—Its results—All young men dream of being successful—Why so few realize their hopes—The price of success—Cicero and Demosthenes—Sir William Jones—Newton—Burke—Michael Angelo—John Q. Adams—The river and the spring—Any young man may be successful, if he will—Poverty no necessary hindrance—Cook, Nelson, Franklin, Eldon, Ferguson, Heyne, Kirke White, etc.—Extract from Longfellow—The young man incited to effort—Religion needed to guide the intellect—Lord Bacon—Rousseau—Voltaire—Byron—

The steamship—Poetic extract—Scene in an ancient village—The secret of John Bunyan's fame—Religion and its influence over the intellect—Its great thoughts—Religious faith—Newton—Richard Watson—Appeal to a young man . . . . . Page 66

CHAPTER V.

ENERGY AN ELEMENT OF DISTINCTION.

Impossible the adjective of fools—What is energy—Longfellow's Excelsior and the idea of energy—Energy and great achievements—The student at college—The history of great men appealed to—Christopher Columbus an example of energy—Energy can overcome every obstacle—Energy distinguished from rashness—An oriental warrior—Mercantile Derars—A sketch proposed—Young Edgar's rashness and ruin—His mistake explained—Impulsive energy described—Its uselessness—The small and the hare—Religion a means of developing energy—Its central command—Its divine aid—Its requisition of might in every thing—The philosophy of success—Religion must be sought . . . 87

CHAPTER VI.

INDUSTRY THE HIGHWAY TO SUCCESS.

An old legend—The recluse—The angel's visit—The palm-tree and the rope—Moral of the legend—Industry essential to the enjoyment of life—Moments—Aropus—Prince Boubousin—The swallow—Busy idlers—Goldsmith's Croaker—Useful pursuits and worthy aims necessary to industry—What may be accomplished by industry—John Jacob Astor—James and John Harper—Lieutenant-Governor Armstrong—William Cobbett—Various examples of industry—Industry not unfavorable to health or longevity—Henry K. White—The eastern missionary—Dying of nothing to do—The victim of self-indulgence—The hunter and the spoiled venison—Picture of an idle man—Desire of young men for an idle life considered—A life of idleness a curse—Effect on the intellect—Beautiful extract from Tennyson—Idleness and Vice—The fate of the idler—Extreme cases—The Succedaneum—Life reviewed by an idler on his death-bed—Religion an antidote for idleness—Quotation from Aldrich . . . . . 105