INTRODUCTION

THE most important influence in the life of man is Education.

Education may be Secular or Religious, or both. It cannot stop with childhood, for the whole of life for both man and woman is an education.

Some are educated in selfishness; some in vice; some in crime.

The Ideal and the best education is essentially Constructive, in the Building of Character, and a clean, noble, useful, and progressive Manhood and Womanhood.

Self-control, and a sense of Personal Responsibility, are the Key of such character-building.

Everything that favors such construction, is Good.

Whatsoever confuses, retards, or prevents this constructive work of character-building, is Bad.

To label it "Religion" only makes it all the more confusing, deceitful, and destructive. The Personal Responsibility referred to compels every intelligent Individual to face just this issue, and abide by the results.

The Law of Nature at this point is absolute and inexorable.

The proof of the Law, is in the experience of every intelligent man and woman.

We are facing a Great Issue in America to-day, and not only is there a "Conspiracy of Silence" regarding it, as the Public Press generally dare not discuss it, but all the hosts of ignorance and superstition are arrayed against law and order, in the name of Religion.

For centuries, Rome has had practically absolute jurisdiction and dictation over education in Southern Europe.

INTRODUCTION

France was the first to escape the blight, Italy came next under Garibaldi and associate interests. Then came Spain, and at last Portugal.

An eminent Catholic Priest recently declared (see the "Arena" for July, 1907) that "the Church is dead in the land of its birth."

In Spain and Portugal more than 70 per cent. of the people, after the "Education" of Rome, are entirely uneducated. The majority can neither read nor write.

Since its slow demise in Europe, Rome has turned its whole attention on America. It aims to include all children of Catholics in its Parochial Schools, and "educate" them in its own way. Father Crowley designates these Parochial Schools as "the Curse of the Church and the Menace of the Nation."

Rome is doing its utmost to discredit, break down, and anathematize our Free
