These Memorials

of their friends are dedicated.

PREFACE.

AMONG Dr Henderson's papers the following sketch of his early life was found. It was his intention to have completed and published it, had he been spared to return to England in 1867; and the knowledge that he hoped it might be useful, has made the fulfilment of his design a sacred duty.

The portrait has been completed, of which the outline was simply and faithfully drawn.

It has been part of the solace of a deep sorrow to be permitted to arrange these brief memorials of one whose zealous and successful devotion to a noble profession was all the more striking from the unusual difficulties surmounted, and the singleness of eye and heart with which cultivated ability and scientific attainment were consecrated to missionary service.
