*. These tales are expressly written for young persons commencing the study of the French Language, and are followed by a Key, in which the difficult words and phrases are explained.

A WORD TO PARENTS AND INSTRUCTORS.

THIS Work contains simply what is necessary to enable young learners, by the time they have reached the end of the volume, to compose a few short phrases. More than this would discourage children of a tender age, besides being beyond their comprehension.

No definitions of the Parts of Speech are given, because it is surmised that children have been taught what nouns, articles, and adjectives signify, some time before their teachers consider it advisable to give them a new language to learn.

* * The professional remarks are more particularly addressed to the Teacher; and will be found to be printed in a smaller type.
