The publishers feel that some apology is due the public for the lateness of this book, which, scheduled for last November, only now makes its appearance in February. Various obstacles have been encountered in the course of the making, the most serious of which was the bankruptcy of one printing house at a crucial moment which necessitated the transfer of all plates and material from that establishment to one in another city. It is hoped, however, that the book itself will compensate for any annoyance caused by the delay in the case of all who placed their orders in the autumn.
