

JUSTICE AND LIBERTY, A POLITICAL DIALOGUE

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649363513

Justice and liberty, a political dialogue by G. Lowes Dickinson

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

G. LOWES DICKINSON

JUSTICE AND LIBERTY, A POLITICAL DIALOGUE

JUSTICE AND LIBERTY

A POLITICAL DIALOGUE

BY

G. LOWES DICKINSON

Author of

Letters from a Chinese Official, The Greek View of Life, A Modern Symposium, etc.

"Es erben sich Gesetz' und Rechte
Wie eine ew'ge Krankheit fort"
GOETHE

NEW YORK
THE McCLURE COMPANY
MCMVIII

Copyright, 1908, by The McClure Company

Published, October, 1908

Copyright, 1908, by G. Lowes Dickinson

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	PAGE.
§ 1. Introduction	3
§ 2. Forms of Society.....	13
(1) Oligarchy	13
(2) Aristocracy	20
(3) Ochlocracy	22
(4) Democracy	24
(5) Existing Society.....	26
§ 3. The Institution of Marriage.....	33
(1) On regulating the number of the population	35
(2) On regulating the quality of the population	40
(3) On the possibility of such regulation.....	43
(4) On Love and Marriage.....	45
(5) On the breeding of types in an Aristocracy	49
(6) On the breeding of types in a Democracy..	53
§ 4. The Institution of Property.....	54
(1) The distribution of labour in Existing So- ciety	58
(2) The distribution of labour in an Aristoc- racy	67
(3) The distribution of labour in a Democracy	70
(4) The distribution of the products of labour in Existing Society	82
(a) The inheritance of wealth	83
(b) Rent	86
(c) Interest	88
(d) Wages	92

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	PAGE.
(5) The equitable distribution of the products of labour	104
(a) Distribution according to need.....	110
(b) Distribution according to desert.....	110
(6) The relation of the productivity of Existing Society to its system of property.....	119
§ 5. Government	134
(1) Is government necessary.....	134
(2) The extent of governmental interference in Existing Society	143
(3) Government in an Aristocracy.....	148
(4) Government in a Democracy.....	150
(a) The regulation of marriage.....	152
(b) Education	155
(c) The regulation of industry by au- thority	156
(d) The regulation of industry by induc- ment	165
(e) Unregulated industry in a Democracy	176
§ 6. The "Spirit" of the communities that have been considered	188
(1) The Spirit of Existing Society	189
(2) The Spirit of an Aristocracy.....	193
(3) The Spirit of a collectivist Democracy.....	195
(4) The Spirit of an individualistic Democracy	196
§ 7. A comparison of the communities that have been considered	197
§ 8. The importance of political ideals as guides to practice	215
§ 9. The relation of ideals to facts.....	220

JUSTICE AND LIBERTY

THE SPEAKERS ARE:

Henry Martin, a professor.

Charles Stuart, a banker.

Sir John Harington, a gentleman of leisure.

JUSTICE AND LIBERTY

Stuart. In the same place? I knew we should find you here. And always studying? §1. Introduction.

Martin. Dreaming, I fear you would call it. The place invites to it. I love the sound and sight of the running water, the great green slopes fragrant with pines, and the granite cliffs shining against the sky. But to-day I am saying farewell to them. I return home to-morrow.

Harrington. To-morrow! Why?

Martin. The day after is the polling-day in my constituency.

Harrington. And you are really going back to vote?

Martin. Certainly. Why not?

Stuart. Don't you know he is a great politician? At the time of the Boer war I had to engage in a free fight to protect him against a hostile meeting. And it was the more provoking because, of course, I was on the other side.

Martin. Stuart has the greatest contempt for my political opinions.

Stuart. I haven't the least objection to your opinions, so long as you don't try to bring them to