

A VOICE
FROM THE DEEP

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649213658

A voice from the deep by P. Strickland

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

P. STRICKLAND

A VOICE
FROM THE DEEP

WINES & LIQORS

A VOICE FROM THE DEEP.

BY CAPT. P. STRICKLAND.

BOSTON:
A. WILLIAMS & COMPANY.

1873.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1873, by
A. WILLIAMS & CO.,
In the Office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington.

BOSTON :
STEREOTYPED AND PRINTED BY RAND, AVERY, & CO.

CONTENTS.

INTRODUCTION.

	PAGE.
The Wonders and Uses of the Ocean. — Remarks on Ships and Seamen. — Camel the Type of Commerce in Ancient Times. — A Ship the Type of Modern Commerce. — Comparison between Ancient and Modern Maritime Commerce. — Piracy linked with Commerce Two Centuries ago. — Agriculture the True Basis of Commerce. — Commerce the Handmaid of Peace and Civilization. — Some assist Benevolent Enterprises from Unworthy Motives. — The Light of Truth progressive. — She must now let it shine upon Seamen . . .	13

CHAPTER I.

The Arrival of an East-Indiaman. — Seamen's Wardrobes. — Behavior of Runners. — Man craves Female Society. — The Laborer can have a Wife and Children. — Seamen's Boarding-Houses and Landlords. — Clothing-Stores. — Meal Times. — Waiting-Maids in Seamen's Boarding-Houses generally Girls of Loose Character. — Their Evil Influence on Seamen. — Origin of Runners and the most debased among Prostitutes. — How the Sailor gets rid of his Money. — Seamen can seldom leave their Boarding-Houses without Advanced Wages. — They frequently go to Sea more or less intoxicated. — Serious Troubles often result from their Bad Behavior when partially Drunk. — Venereal Diseases often contracted while on Shore. — They cause the Most Intense Bodily and Mental Suffering. — How treated. — Influences on Board of Ships generally more for Evil than for Good. — Pernicious Reading-Matter one Fruitful Source of Iniquity. — The most Shameless and Heartless Tyranny frequently practised by Officers in dealing with Seamen. — Its Pernicious Results. — The Best Seamen avoid Large Ships and Long Voyages. — The Shameless Conduct of Sea-Lawyers. — They must be dealt with severely. — Rascally and Hypocritical Conduct of the Honorable Ship-Master — Foreign Consuls and Tailors. — Seamen not naturally Viler than other Men	25

---	----

CHAPTER II.

The Accommodations for Seamen on Shipboard. — Evil of having Double Berths. — Swinish Method of Eating. — Quality of Provisions. — Method of Cooking. — Deficiency of Fresh Water. — Religion must be Tangible to benefit the Sailor. — Boarding-Houses and Landlords. — They are not the Primary Cause of the Sailor's Degradation and Misery. — Sailors' Homes. — Shipping-Agents. — Foreign Consuls. — Ship-Owners. — The Happy Effects of Marriage among Officers. — Tyrants and Tyrannical Measures. — Seafaring Men not noticed by the Government. — Bad Effects of some of the Present Custom-House Regulations. — Summing up of the Sailors' Miseries. — Rule to prevent the Social Evil. — The Rights of Women. — Sailors are in a Pitiable Condition, and need Help	50
---	----

CHAPTER III.

The Efforts of Benevolent Societies to benefit Seamen. — The Seamen's Friend Society. — A Sketch of the Life and Labors of Father Taylor. — A Short Account of Father Stowe and Others. — The Mariners' House in Boston. — Sailors' Homes. — The Difficulties which beset Bethel Ministers and Missionaries. — Obstacles in the Way of Sailors who are trying to reform their Lives. — Encouragements for Bethel Ministers. — The Great Value of Libraries. — The Effect which Good Books sometimes have upon Seamen. — Captains' Wives and their Children. — The Efforts of Benevolent Societies ineffectual to reclaim the Seaman's Profession from Dishonor	88
--	----

CHAPTER IV.

The Effects of Early Instruction. — Bethel Influences scarcely reach the Mass of Seamen. — The Tendency of Religious and Well-behaved Seamen to avoid Large Ships and Long Voyages. — Sailors need Female Society. — They do not prefer the Company of Abandoned Women. — Comparison between the lives of Seamen and Clergymen. — The Potency of Marriage to sanctify the Heart. — Good People in Society indebted to Means of Grace furnished them by Others for the Loveliness of their Characters. — The Evil Influences to which Seamen are exposed must be removed. — Christian Sailors generally marry and quit a Seafaring Life, and Society suffers on that Account. — The Highest Motives not generally Efficacious as first in leading Sinners to Repentance. — Erroneous Notions concerning Heaven. — Heaven a State of Bliss rather than a Place of Fancy. — Sailors must be saved by Human Agency. — The Wages of Seamen, and Reasons why they are so Low. — Commerce should be the Sailor's Nurse, and not Freight. — The Slave-Trade still carried on among Seamen. — The Benevolent Contracts of Landlords in Favor of Seamen are not productive of much Good. — Seamen must be saved from Physical, Moral, and Spiritual Shipwreck . . . 105

CHAPTER V.

Conclusions deduced from a Retrospective View of the Circumstances and Condition of Seamen. — The Nation must provide Remedies for the Wrongs of Seamen. — She must adopt them as her Wards. — A Financial View of Their Prospective Situation. — What such a Measure would do for the Abandoned Woman. — No Class of Men can keep Virtuous without Female Society. — A Project for providing Seamen with Homes. — How Seamen's Clothing should be kept in Order. — The End of Seamen's Boarding-Houses and Sharkish Landlords. — Seamen should have Newspapers devoted to their Interests. — Remarks concerning our Commerce. — Seamen should live by Commerce the same as the Artisan lives by his Trade. — They should have the Commonest Blessings of Life secured to them by Society, if nothing more . . . 132

CHAPTER VI.

Seamen's Miseries not so much due to Defective Legislation as to other Causes. — A Few Extra Laws may eventually be needed to protect both Ship-Masters and Seamen. — Litigation among Seamen should be discouraged as much as possible. — Pecuniary Assistance from the Government would solve most Nautical Problems. — How Sailors might be prevented from Smuggling. — Seamen, even if assisted by the Government, should receive from their Fellow-Men more than an Ordinary Share of Regard and Consideration. — Very Exemplary Behavior should not be expected from them at first. — The Wages of Officers. — Seamen more worthy of Help than Indians. — Sailors ignorant of Politics. — Patriotism . . . 151

CHAPTER VII.

Mammon should not be allowed to supersede Justice in National Affairs. — The Devotees of Fashion miserably defrauded and perpetually deceived. — It is expected that any Monetary Project to assist Seamen will be sharply criticised. — Their Case needs Investigation. — Nations would sooner spend Billions in settling big Indian Disputes than use a Dollar to befriend Mercy and Goodness. — The Church of Christ now a Power in the Land. — All Denominations of Christians must unite their Efforts to bless the Sailor. — Worldly Wisdom cannot grasp Common Sense. — Hope for Abandoned Females. — Scaman's Cause will eventually triumph . . . 168

