PREFACE

THIS work owes its origin to the suggestion of Mr. H. W. C. Davis, Fellow and Tutor of Balliol College, who has given every assistance in carrying it out. It aims at showing the development of international relations among the Powers of Europe up to the year 1916. It does not deal with questions of the Law of Nations arising out of the conduct of war, such as are contained in the Hague Conventions.

In the reprinting of the treaties the articles dealing with purely technical or ephemeral matters have been omitted. Many of the texts may be found in full in the great work of Sir Edward Hertslet, The Map of Europe by Treaty (quoted in this work as 'Hertslet'), or in the classical collection of G. F. von Martens, the Nouveau Recueil général de traités, as continued by Stoerk and by Triepel.

The other texts are taken chiefly from the Parliamentary Papers. It is a pleasant duty to acknowledge the courtesy of the Proprietors and Editor of The Times, who generously gave permission to reproduce some of the most recent documents.
