TO SIR WILLIAM C. VAN HORNE.

DEAR SIR WILLIAM:

To the public it will seem fitting that these tales should be inscribed to one whose notable career is closely associated with the life and development of the Far North.

But there are other and more personal reasons for this dedication; for some of the stories were begotten in midnight gossip by your fireside: furthermore, it gives my little book a sort of distinction to have on its fore-page the name of so well-known a connoisseur in art and lover of literature.

Believe me, dear Sir William,

Very sincerely yours,

GILBERT PARKER.
